

To Hell With Tradition

The Lost Art of Conceptual Evolution

Just when 2024 is nearing its end, about 14 months after the release of Blind Spots, To Hell With Tradition is back to announce their 5th full-length concept album in just as many years, thus continuously swimming against the current in a time when the whole music world is increasingly leaning towards creating and releasing isolated individual songs one after another.

Like not many others, To Hell With Tradition (aka Achim Hofmeyer) has a very keen sense for fusing profound philosophical and spiritual lyricism wrapped in metaphors and allegories with captivating tunes and up-tempo grooves to claim an intriguing territory right in the sweet spot between mainstream and indie.

The new album, Showdown, is set to be released December 30th 2024 and comes with 13 big-bottomed, partly interwoven tracks contemplating the importance of iterative, gradual revelations on the path to consciously create our own reality.

To Hell With Tradition is an independent music solo project founded in 2019 by Achim Hofmeyer, a singer, songwriter, guitarist, pianist and music producer based in Heidelberg, Germany
